

The commandments of Jesus Christ in the Gospels

How beautiful it is when we know the commandments of Jesus Christ and put them into practice. Because Jesus shows us with these commandments and his example the will of God, the Father. The heavenly Father confirms this with: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; YOU SHALL HEAR!" (Mt 17:5; Mk 9:7).

Because Jesus instructs us in the Great Commission to make disciples of all nations and to teach them to keep ALL that He has commanded, we must of course first know what He has commanded, or we cannot keep it ourselves, nor can we teach it to others (Mt 28:20).

In addition, Jesus wants to reveal Himself in a special way to the one who keeps His commandments: He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: but he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will MYSELF REVEAL MYSELF TO HIM. John 14:15, 21

Jesus even goes so far as to promise to answer our prayers if we keep him and his words in us: if you abide in me, and my words abide in you, you will ask what you will, and IT WILL BE DONE. John 15:7

Our own relationship with Jesus depends deeply on His commandments and our behavior toward them. This is made clear when he said:

"He who loves me keeps my commandments" Jn 14:21.

"If you love me, keep my commandments!" Jn 14:15

And "For this is love to God, that we keep his commandments, and his commandments are not grievous." 1Jn 5:3

"Everyone who does sin also does lawlessness, and sin is lawlessness." 1Jn 3:4

So how can we love Him if we neither know nor keep His commandments? Keeping Jesus' commandments begins with knowing them and then doing them. Some of Jesus' commandments we have heard and understood. Other commandments, however, may seem foreign and unpleasant to us. Perhaps we even intuitively want to reject them at first? But let us not forget: All the commandments of Jesus Christ are the clear will of God! His word is trustworthy and endures, even if we and our environment do not or no longer accept them. This tension should lead us to admit that we have blanked out some things and thought ourselves smarter than the all-knowing God, the Creator of the whole universe. If we admit this, God invites us to accept his forgiveness in his Son Jesus Christ and to walk with him anew (Acts 13:38-39; 1 John 1:9). Then the promise applies to us: there is no more condemnation for those who are joined to him (Rom 8:1). However, if we reject the chance to repent, it has serious consequences for ourselves and others (Ex 34:6-7). We follow false lights and become a false light for others ourselves. God is not only a merciful God, but also a just and jealous God (Ex 34:14). He wants us to worship and follow only Him. Why? Because that is the truth and reality. Anything else would be deception and self-deception. God has clear expectations of us. For example, Jesus tells us to repent and believe in Him (Mark 1:15)! He who believes Him has eternal life (Jn 6:68)! He who will not obey does not have life (Jn 3:36). Whoever obeys the commandments of Jesus can expect a great reward (Mt 25:21; 1Cor 3:14).

The commandments of Jesus Christ are not about falling into legalism (2Cor 3:6). The Jews tried to keep not only the good 10 commandments in the Old Testament, but also all the other 613 commandments. More precisely, there are 248 commandments and 365 prohibitions from the 5 books of Moses. In addition, they invented many human commandments that have nothing to do with God's will, which are listed in the Mishnah or Talmud. For example, no Jew is allowed to eat meat and dairy products at the same time (generalization of Ex 23:19; 34:26). The Jews tried to prevent breaking God's commandments by these additional regulations and then being led into exile once again (first in 605 B.C.). Jesus Christ vehemently rejects these supplementary commandments in the Talmud as mere human commandments that nullify God's commandments (Matt. 15:9; Mark 7:7). From this we can learn not to add anything to God's commandments, but also not to take anything away (Deut 4:2; Rev 22:18). This is the danger we face again and again. Although Christians are freed from literal obedience, they are not lawless, but the law of Christ (Gal 6:2) and the Holy Spirit (Rom 8:2) is in them.

On the other hand, it is not a matter of keeping the commandments to get to heaven either. Generations before us tried to do that and failed (Gal 3:10-14). We turn back from our previous evil ways and agree with God that we actually deserve only damnation. But Jesus Christ died for us on the cross to take God's wrath for our guilt. He frees us from the fear of God's judgment and mere literal obedience (Gal. 5:1, 13). We invite Jesus Christ to be our Savior and Lord and to fill us with His Holy Spirit. We love Jesus Christ who does, has done and will do so much good for us! God does not save people because they would be "good," but He saves them even though they are evil for the purpose of transforming them into His image (Rom. 5:8; 2 Cor. 3:18).

In today's world, we are more in danger of not taking God's commandments seriously and adapting them to our way of life than the other way around, adapting our lives to God's will and His commandments. Perhaps one or the other thinks to himself: "The less I know, the less I have to answer for" (Lk 12:48). But God wants us to know His will and to put it into practice for the blessing of ourselves and others.

At the end of the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus speaks of a mighty storm, a flash flood, which will test all people and their ways of life. The lifestyles of people who live according to the commandments of Jesus will withstand this challenge. Those who live lawlessly and do not take the commandments of Jesus seriously will "collapse" catastrophically (Mt 7:24-29). They will end up in hell (Mt 5:30), which Jesus explicitly warns against (Mk 9:47-48).

There are various lists on the Internet of Jesus' commandments. Some are limited to the Gospels, the literal speech of Jesus Christ and his direct universal commands. Others cover the entire New Testament and also list indirect commands, or commands meant only for certain people in certain places at a certain time. Some commands are repeated in slightly modified form. Here I limit myself in the first part mainly to the Gospels with references to repetitions in the rest of the New Testament. In the second part, I supplement the commandments of the rest of the New Testament. I mostly omit commands for specific groups of people that apply only to specific times: e.g., Mark 13:15, which deals with the coming 7-year tribulation period and Jews to flee immediately when they see the abomination of desolation in the temple. Indirect commandments are marked with ">" after the Bible verse.

All 142 commandments/prohibitions listed have been arranged in categories. Many commandments could well be located in other categories. Different Bible translations were used.

113. Expose sin! Eph 5:11: And have nothing in common with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather expose them.
114. Do good, not evil! Rom 16:19: But I want you to be wise for good, yet uninfluenced by evil; Mt 12:35; Lk 6:45; Rom 12:9, 21; 2Cor 13:7; Gal 4:18; Gal 6:9; Eph 2:10 1Th 5:15, 22; 2Th 3:13; Tit 2:14; 3:8; Heb 5:14; 1Pet 3:9-11; Jas 1:22; 2:20; 1Pet 2:12; 4:19; 3Jn 11.
115. Turn away from pseudo-Christians who want to deceive! Rom 16:17-18: Beware of those who depart from the teaching as you have learned it! They only cause divisions and put the faith of the brethren in danger. Get out of their way! Such people do not serve Christ, our Lord, but their own well-being. With impressive speeches and flattering words they lead unsuspecting people astray. 2Tim 3:5
116. Rather be wronged or seek wise Christians who can judge well between Christians. Do not call for judgment with not-yet-Christians when it comes to other Christians! 1Cor 6:5-7 i>: You should be ashamed of yourselves! Is there no one among you wise enough to make an impartial judgment between brothers? Instead, one brother sues another - and that before unbelievers! It is already a fault of yours that you have legal disputes with each other. Why don't you rather let yourselves be wronged? Why don't you rather let yourselves be taken advantage of?
